

Cosmic Cafe Specific Wrap-up Points

Your café attendees are clearly interested in your café topic. Use the wrap-up as an opportunity to tell them a few easy ways to continue their exploration.

---

Things people can do at the venue

- Complete the sign-in sheet to be notified about upcoming science cafés.
  - Complete the evaluation form to suggest other topics of interest and offer feedback for improving the café experience.
  - Keep the buzz going. Encourage people to linger and to keep the conversation going. If the speaker can stay, let people know the he/she would enjoy answering questions and further discussing the topic.
-

Things people can do at home

- Use the QR code on the coaster to go to the The Fabric of the Cosmos website (pbs.org/wgbh/nova/physics/fabric-of-the-cosmos.html). There, website visitors can:
  - Stream each episode.
  - Play a “Space-Time” interactive.
  - Download podcasts of interviews with author Brian Greene and other prominent physicists.
  - Get the answer to their coaster question and see the other coasters’ questions and answers.
  - Find out when The Fabric of the Cosmos will be broadcast locally.
- Visit the NOVA website (pbs.org/wgbh/nova) to access a host of interesting videos, games, podcasts, and much more on nearly every science topic.
- Visit partner websites.
- Attend upcoming cafés and look for science café listings at websites, such as sciencecafes.org.